Is the Outcomes Star™ right for you?

The Star puts people at the heart of their own journey of change. It all starts with a conversation that values the expertise and perspective of the person receiving support. Once you’ve completed the Star together it gives a visual overview of that person’s life right now – what’s going well and where more support is needed – so you can create a well-balanced support plan that meets them where they are in this moment.

If your organisation shares this person-centred, co-produced and strength-based approach, then the Star will be a good fit. To make it work most effectively, it's important that you:

- Have an ongoing relationship with people you support
- Have time for Star conversations in sessions
- Want to empower your staff and people receiving support
- Want to use Star data to improve learning and services
- Allow staff the time and space to attend training sessions
- Want to engage with the Triangle team to get the most from the Star.
